TEMPE NEWS NOTESSPRING VACATION AT NORMAL STARTS TODAY

Teachers and Students Depart For all Sections of the State. School to Resume on 26th

The first spring vacation ever to be observed by the Tempe Normal, became a thing of the present with the close of school last evening and today commences the exodus of several hundred students to their out of town homes for a week of pleasure and rest. Some of the faculty members will also begin their exodus today and by Monday morning, an even half dozen will be in as many other Arizona counties preaching the gospel of the state's best school.

The fact that a spring vacation was introduced into the calendar of the year at the normal was welcome news to the students and faculty alike. To the former, it means a short vacation, an opportunity to recuperate, catch up on their back work and prepare for the last month and a half of school. To the professors it means relief from school work while they are paying their annual visit to the other schools of the state, spreading the laurels of the Tempe normal and boosting for the new 1915-16 term.

The various faculty members have already been assigned their districts and schools. F. M. Irish goes to Yavapai county, J. F. Hall will visit Greenlee and its schools, J. B. Griffing and I. D. Payne will jointly do the boosting work in Cochise county. Professor Felton goes to Graham county and J. R. Mulford goes to the Pinal county schools. Professors Beckwith, Prizzell, Anderson, Clark and the lady members of the normal and training school faculties will visit the Maricopa county schools. President Matthews will be the normal's representative on the campus.

The normal will resume after the spring vacation on the 26th of this month. Examinations and commencement exercises will begin on June 6th and school will officially close on the 11th.

Tomorrow there will be sermons by Evangelist Jones, both morning and evening; the evening subject being on "The Millennium and Afterward." A good audience last night heard Evangelist Jones preach on "Jesus' Attitude Toward Men." Interest in the meetings continues high and the influence is being felt in the community. Wilbur-Dorrain Pumping Plant Tried Out With Success—Will Mean Reclaiming of Many Acres

At about the same hour that the speechmaking at the Roosevelt dam celebration commenced at Roosevelt on Thursday, the pumping plant on the Dorrain-Miller tract of approximately 2000 acres and located seven miles northeast of Mesa was put in motion. The far-reaching extent of the experiment is indeterminate. The idea of the men interested in the venture is to make of the land a huge fruit farm. The experiment had its inception two years ago when several scores of orange trees were taken to the desert and transplanted with the idea that the warmer air of the higher foothills would insure immunity from the frosts and killing freezes of winter. That the venture is a success is demonstrated by the further expenditure of money and time in working out a pumping proposition on an extensive scale.

In case the pumping of the warm underground water onto the land proves a success it will mean the utilizing of thousands of acres of some of the richest land in the state. If it can be demonstrated that citrus trees can be grown at a profit on the land that is now in a desert waste then the day on which the big pumping plant was put in operation will go down in history alongside that of the day that water first flowed over the spillways at Roosevelt. The pumping plant has a greater scope for the reason that its limitations will not be bounded as in the gravity irrigation systems. There are hundreds of thousands of acres of land lying east of Mesa ready to be taken up under the homestead act, which are just as susceptible to irrigation and just as well protected from the lower temperatures as is the tract already being placed under irrigation.

PICTURES OF THE DAM

The first pictures of the Roosevelt dam celebration on the screen were those at the Majestic last night. Manager Menhennett secured the services of the Camera Fiends to visit the dam during the celebration where they secured a splendid lot of views of the crowd and the ceremonies during the celebration.

PLAYING A RETURN DATE

One feature about the Roosevelt dam is that it is playing a return date at the same location. The same thrilling sights of water going over the spillway were to be seen yesterday the same as on the date of the celebration. Many local people who were unable to visit the dam on the 15th, made the trip yesterday while quite a few cars passed through evidently enroute to the reservoir.

Mr. Roth has handled all the cotton sold to McFadden the past year from this part and he is full of interest and one which should be heard by every one interested in the industry.

LEFT LID ON LAKE

E. G. Attaway, local manager of the Egyptian Cotton Gin, contributed his portion towards the general amusements at the celebration Thursday by losing control of one perfectly good banana hat. A gust of wind carried the brand new lid out into the bosom of the lake to the amusement of the onlookers.

DEATH OF MRS. LILLYWHITE

The funeral of Mrs. Stella Lillywhite will take place at ten o'clock this morning from the family residence northeast of the city with burial in the Mesa cemetery. Mrs. Lillywhite was taken to Salt Lake City a few weeks ago where she underwent an operation
